Sandra, my English friend, is asking me about shopping in Algeria. So, I write her an email to give her information about shopping malls, supermarkets, street markets and traditional craft shops in the place where I live. I also, tell her about how Algerian teenagers dress and what they generally eat. Then, I ask her questions about shopping in England and what English teenagers wear and eat. I attach to my email a street map showing the shopping amenities in my neighborhood and the location of my home.

2. To write my email, my listening tasks, my "Grammar Tools", "I practise" tasks and the layout below will also help me.

Layout

Email Contents

1. Salutations: I say "Hello" to Sandra.
2. I talk about the various shopping places in my neighbourhood (shopping malls, supermarkets, street markets, traditional craft shops, etc.).
3. I give Sandra information about what Algerian teens wear to school, at weekends and on special occasions (Eid, weddings, etc.).
4. I inform Sandra about the food Algerian teenagers like to eat. I insist on healthy food (fruit and vegetables).
5. I describe a typical street market (what people can buy there, cheap prices, etc.).
6. I describe a craft shop selling traditional carpets or rugs for example (different sizes, shapes, colours and prices).
7. I ask Sandra about shopping in London; what teens wear and eat; if clothes and shoe sizes are the same as in Algeria; I ask about prices, etc.
8. I locate some of the shopping amenities in my neighbourhood and tell Sandra how to get there from my home.
9. Closing: I say "Good bye" and sign off.

Hello, Sandra!

I live in a big city where there are a lot of shopping places such as the market, the cheapest place in my town, there you can find all what you need. For example clothes, food, furniture, etc. Also, you can find supermarkets, shops and traditional crafts shops that sell traditional and handicraft goods such as knotted and woven carpets or rugs made from wool, goats or camels hair with different size, colors and shapes, basket-weaving; pottery, silver jewelry etc. The shopping amenities in my neighborhood are not far from my house. it's about 1 km. You can go there by car or bus.

Concerning clothes, the Algerian teens don't have to wear school uniforms, but they have to put on pinafores in all schools. During free times and weekends they prefer to wear casual and sporty clothes but during special occasion like Eid and wedding parties, they usually put on traditional clothing. Teenagers love fast foods, but I like healthy food. I eat a lot of fruit and vegetable instead.

How about shopping in London? Where <sup>are</sup> the cheapest places? Are clothes expensive? Are clothes and shoes sizes the same as in Algeria? Are they expensive?

I'm attaching a street map of my neighborhood to help you see where I usually go shopping with my parents.

Bye for now,
Ahmed

I think and write.

Task:

I am spending my summer holiday in another town in Algeria (or a foreign country). When I return to school, my English teacher asks me to write a report about my shopping there (the local shops, markets, malls, traditional craft shops, bazaars, souks, street markets and the local products that attract my attention). The teacher asks me to describe these products and draw a street map to explain to my classmates the location of all these shopping places.

1. I need to answer the following key questions before I write my report:

KEY QUESTIONS

- What is the name of the town, country?
- What are the most interesting shopping places (street market, shopping mall, bazaar, souk, etc.) in this town?
- What do these shopping places sell (I describe some of the most attractive products: food, clothes, traditional crafts, furniture, together with their size, shape, colour and price)?
- Where are these shopping places located from my hotel/family place, etc?
- I give directions to some of the most important shopping places according to the street map.
- What shopping items do I decide to buy? Why?
