Mohamed Farah's Speech at the Arab Reading Challenge Award Ceremony in Dubai

"I read so that I can learn. I'm a pupil who is very keen on reading because reading is necessary for my mind, just like the food I eat, or the water I drink, or the air I breathe. Reading is the mind's food. It is a religious obligation, not just an extra, superficial activity as the writer Abbas Mahmud al-Aqqad once said.

Reading is a criterion for evaluating nations. The Greek philosopher Aristotle was once asked: "How can you evaluate a man?" He replied, "I ask him about what he reads and how many books he can read."

What makes me interested in reading is a sacred dream, one that can't be fulfilled without reading. My dream is to become a great scholar like Sheikh Abdulhamid Ibn Badis." (...)

Dubai: (...) The second-grader, who travelled over 30 hours to attend the closing ceremony, told Gulf News he is very happy to have won the competition and is very grateful to his parents who encouraged him to read.

(...) Reading 50 books for the competition, Jalood said his favourite book is an Arabic book called The Cave Man and the Stone Age.

(...) "It's a dream, it's a dream," said Jalood's father when asked about his son's accomplishment. "Mohammad has always been so smart and quick to understand and analyse books. He is quite active and has an imagination that he develops through reading. He's also very much into karate," said the proud dad.

(...) Palestinian teacher Hanan Al-Hroub (...) attended the award ceremony as a judge (...). "Reading books expands children's thinking, their ability and knowledge. When you read, you have knowledge, you are strong, and you can do more," she said.

Hi, my name is Yamazaki Kimura. I'm 13 years old, I'm Japanese. I live in Osaka, a beautiful city in Japan. I'm a pupil at Junior High school.

I'm interested in Japanese Rock music and Hip Hop and I love listening to the famous Japanese band called "ONE OK ROCK". I always buy their latest CD and go to their concerts. I can play the guitar very well but I can't sing. I'm very keen on Anime. I always watch Dragon Ball and Naruto in my free time.

I'm friendly and quite talkative person, cool and funny. My friends say that I'm smart and a hardworking boy, but I don't think so. I can be messy at times. I love hanging out with my friends and going to Karaoke clubs.
